

Stake & Trade Terms and Conditions

A. Stake & Trade

1. Organizer of Stake&Trade is SimpleFX Ltd. with its seat in Saint Vincent & Grenadines. By participating in Stake & Trade with SimpleFX, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and accepted all of the terms and conditions in these Stake & Trade Terms, and you acknowledge and agree that you will be bound by and will comply with these Terms & Conditions. If you do not understand and accept these T&C in their entirety, you should not participate.

2. SimpleFX offers On-chain and Off-Chain Staking.

On-chain staking refers to the process where users support the network's operations with their coins (in this case, TRX, BNB and ETH), including transaction validation and network security. By participating in on-chain staking, users contribute directly to the blockchain's consensus mechanism, typically Proof of Stake (PoS) or a variant thereof. Rewards are generated and distributed automatically by the network protocol based on the amount and duration of coins staked.

Off-chain staking involves users dedicating their cryptocurrencies (specifically, USDT) through a platform managed by SimpleFX, outside the blockchain network. This form of staking does not directly contribute to the blockchain consensus but allows users to earn rewards through various investment strategies implemented by us. The rewards are calculated and distributed according to predefined terms and may involve third-party custodians or financial instruments.

If you subscribe and add assets to your account after 00:00 UTC (for example, at 12:00 UTC), those assets will not earn staking rewards for that day. Similarly, if you withdraw assets before 23:59 UTC on any day (for example, at 11:00 UTC), you will not earn rewards for that day either.
